

30 LAFAYETTE PLACE

THE JEWISH ENCYCLOPEDIA.

EDITORIAL BOARD.

DR. CYRUS ADLER, Dept. of Post-Biblical Antiquities; the Jews of London.
DR. G. DREYER, Dept. of History from 1600 to 1800.
PROF. RICHARD GOTTFRED, Dept. of History from 1800 to 1850, History of Post-Biblical Literature.
JOSEPH JACOBI, Dept. of the Jews of England.

DR. MARCUS JASTROW, Dept. of the Talmud.
PROF. MORDECAI JASTROW, Dept. of the Bible.
DR. E. KOHLER, Dept. of Theology and Philosophy.
PROF. CRAWFORD H. TAYLOR, Dept. of Hebrew Philology and Indological Literature.
DR. LEONARD STERN, Dept. of Modern Biography.

DR. THEODORE SINGER, MANAGING EDITOR.

Chairman of the Board: DR. I. E. FURK.

Corresponding Secretary: FRANK H. VERTHA.

Prof. Ignatz Goldziher,
Budapest, Hungary.

New York, Aug. 29, 1900.

Dear Sir:--

On the advice of the department editors of the Jewish Encyclopedia, we have assigned to you a number of the more important articles occurring between the letters G and Z of the Encyclopedia, which you will find enumerated in the duplicated schedules attached to the accompanying agreement.

If you are willing to write these articles by the time specified on the accompanying schedule, will you be so kind as to sign the agreement and one of the copies of the schedule and return them to us immediately, and retain the copy signed by us, thus placing the financial relations between us on a strictly business basis.

If, on examining the schedule which we have sent you in duplicate, you find any articles that you do not care to write, please strike them out from the copy you sign before returning it to us.

We desire to call your attention particularly to the first clause of the agreement, which refers to the delivery of manuscripts. The time limit by which these must reach us is indicated after each topic on the schedule attached to the contract. It is only by adhering strictly to this clause, and by carrying out these provisions to the letter, that it will be possible to issue the Encyclopedia on the date announced for its publication.

If you desire any further information regarding the topics assigned to you please let us know, and we will refer the matter to the editors in charge.

We will be glad to consider any suggestions concerning other articles within the same division of the alphabet as the enclosed, or that fall in your particular line of study whenever you care to make them. Therefore, we beg you to be kind enough to notify us of any topics in this class that you would be willing to write.

Other articles will be assigned to you from time to time as the work progresses through the alphabet.

Yours very truly,

Samuel Wagnall Coy

P.S.--Of course any articles already assigned to you by the various editors come under the same agreement, and if any of those have already been written and sent us we shall forward check on account as soon as our records are perfected.